Law360's White Collar Editorial Advisory Board

Law360 (April 17, 2019, 5:12 PM EDT) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2019 White Collar Editorial Advisory Board.

The purpose of the editorial advisory board is to get feedback on Law360's coverage and gain insight from experts in the field on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of Law360's 2019 White Collar Editorial Advisory Board are:

Nicolas Bourtin, Sullivan & Cromwell LLP

Nicolas Bourtin is the managing partner of Sullivan & Cromwell's criminal defense and investigations group. He represents individuals, multinational corporations and financial institutions in high-profile, bet-the-company matters involving white collar crime, internal investigations, regulatory enforcement and complex civil litigation. He is frequently recognized as a leading practitioner in this area.

David M. Chaiken, Troutman Sanders LLP

David M. Chaiken is a partner at Troutman Sanders. He specializes in white collar matters, government investigations and enforcement actions, internal corporate investigations and complex civil litigation. He previously served for nearly a decade as an assistant U.S. attorney in the economic crimes section of the U.S. attorney's office in Atlanta.

Peter Chavkin, Mintz Levin Cohn Ferris Glovsky and Popeo PC

Peter Chavkin is a preeminent white collar defense attorney and is co-chair of Mintz Levin's national white collar defense and government investigations practice. He specializes in assisting individuals facing charges or investigations, particularly involving financial and health care laws and political corruption probes.

Brooke Cucinella, Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP

Brooke Cucinella, a former federal securities fraud prosecutor and experienced trial lawyer, focuses on government and internal investigations and high-profile disputes. Cucinella previously served in the U.S. Department of Justice as an assistant U.S. attorney in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York, where she was a senior member of the Securities and Commodities Fraud Task Force.

Melissa Jampol, Epstein Becker Green

Melissa L. Jampol is a member of Epstein Becker's health care and life sciences and litigation practices. A former assistant U.S. attorney in New Jersey and an assistant district attorney in Manhattan, she represents health care organizations and their officers and directors and handles a wide range of white collar matters.

Ross M. Kramer, Winston & Strawn LLP

Ross Kramer represents clients in a wide array of criminal cases in both federal and state courts at the trial and appellate levels, including matters involving large-scale securities fraud, public corruption, money laundering, embargo violations, health care fraud, mortgage fraud and obstruction of justice.

Jessica Ortiz, MoloLamken LLP

Jessica Ortiz is a highly accomplished lawyer who draws on her extensive experience as an assistant U.S. attorney in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York, where she served for over eight years, ending her tenure as chief of the Narcotics Unit. Ortiz represents companies and individuals in high stakes civil litigation and white collar criminal and regulatory investigations and enforcement actions brought by the DOJ, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and other federal and state regulators.

Abdus Samad Pardesi, Kirkland & Ellis LLP

Abdus Samad Pardesi, a partner in Kirkland's government and internal investigations practice, is a versatile enforcement lawyer focusing on anti-corruption compliance, employee fraud and international risk counseling. He's a litigator and handles internal and government-facing investigations involving such areas as bribery, financial fraud, embezzlement, health care fraud and improper trade practices.

Rebecca Rohr, Hewlett Packard Enterprise

Rebecca Rohr is vice president, anti-corruption and global trade, in the ethics and compliance office at Hewlett Packard Enterprise in Reston, Virginia. Before joining HPE in May 2016, Rohr served as the principal deputy chief of the Fraud Section in the Criminal Division of the DOJ.

Nicole Sprinzen, Cozen O'Connor

Nicole Sprinzen focuses her practice on representing companies and individuals in criminal matters and parallel civil proceedings, as well as in internal investigations. Her practice includes advising clients in matters arising under the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, U.S. anti-money laundering laws and the securities and commodities laws, as well as in connection with federal procurement, mortgage and bank fraud allegations. She frequently represents corporate and individual clients in antitrust cartel internal and government investigations.

Rebecca Kahan Waldman, Dechert LLP

Rebecca Waldman's practice focuses on complex commercial and securities disputes involving the banking and financial services sectors, white collar and internal investigations and e-discovery. Her experience includes advising former C-suite executives in civil litigations, congressional and regulatory inquiries and securities fraud charges.

Milton Williams, Walden Macht & Haran LLP

Walden Macht partner Milt Williams is a litigator whose practice focuses on white collar criminal and regulatory law. His successes have ranged from wins touching on the #MeToo movement to attaining the only acquittal in a high-profile corruption trial. Williams has tried more than 55 cases to verdict.
